Testing the a/c control panel

During the diagnosis or reading out of the fault code, frequently the a/c control panel can be considered as causing the fault. To ensure, that a system error isn't being caused by the a/c control panel, the following check should be carried out:

Push buttons 13,16 and 19 (see picture) simultaneously.
If all segments in the display light up the control panel is ok.
