

Mercedes M-Class (W163) Type: 163.113/128/154/157/174/175

Fault code B1302

In the case of the above-mentioned vehicles, fault code B1302 (CAN communication with the control unit, lower control panel is faulty) may occasionally arise when taking a readout of the control unit of the air-conditioning system. If there are no current system faults or complaints, the fault code should be ignored. The control panel of the air-conditioning system or the control unit "lower control panel" should not simply be replaced on the basis of the fault message without further testing.

Bulletin