

VW

Polo (6N) from model year 1995

Golf 3 (1H) from model year 1991

Passat (3A) from model year 1994

with air-conditioning

White flakes come out of air outlet nozzles

In some of the vehicles specified above, in particular of the early model years, white flakes may come out of the ventilation nozzles in the passenger compartment. This may be caused by a peeling away of the evaporator surface coating or aluminum oxide. If that is the case, the evaporator should be replaced.

Blitz-Info