Ford production date identification.

A considerable number of Ford clutch part applications are dependant on the date of production of the vehicle.

All dates in the LuK catalogue refer to production dates and not registration dates. Production dates can differ considerably from the date of registration.

This production date is not readily available from standard VRM lookup systems which generally only supply a registration date. The vehicle's chassis number (or VIN) contains a code which can identify the exact month and year of manufacture.

The code is the 11th and 12th characters of the VIN number.

EXAMPLE: For Chassis (VIN) number WF0NXXTTFNAJ43812, the 11th and 12th digits are AJ. The matrix below shows AJ as the code for vehicles built in May 2010.
